BEAUTY TIPS THAT REALLY WORK

Our experts answer your most pressing q

Q Can I still wear a lip color if my eye makeup is dramatic?

A "Of course! Just keep balance between your lips and eyes," says Jenny Duvall, Athens, Ga.-based professional makeup artist and editor of the beauty blog JennySueMakeup.com. "You want to stick to complementary colors so that your look doesn't appear too overwhelming. Some winning winter combos? Taupey-beige smoky eyes look amazing with burgundy lips, and a navy blue shadow will pop against a rosy pout!

Expert Tip:

When in doubt, opt for a pinky-nude lipstick, which will complement any eye shadow color! Just note: The lip shade should match the natural color of your lips.

Q Why does my face always burn after using cleanser?

A "Believe it or not, face cleansers are harsh on skin," says NYC-based dermatologist Dr. Gary Goldenberg. Most are made of chemical ingredients that strip skin of essential oils, causing dryness and inflammation. Got milk? Its natural cooling properties — and lactic acid — means milk acts as an effective skin cleanser that's gentle enough for all skin types. Mix equal parts milk and cucumber juice (blend and strain cucumbers, or buy juice already made in a health-food store). The vitamin C in cucumbers reduces irritation. Apply with a cotton pad, then rinse with warm water.

Q Are there any masks that will fix my damaged hair without making it feel oily?

A If your hair is oily after using a hair mask, you're using one that's too heavy! For best results, avoid silicone-based products, which tend to leave hair feeling thick and goopy. Instead, look for silicone-free formulas with a rich blend of nourishing oils, like grape-seed oil and almond oil, which will revitalize and strengthen hair without the greasy feel.
