Face, 1999 (left) vs. 2017 (right)

"She's blessed with very balanced facial features and symmetry. These remain in the after boot. Her forehead is completely smooth, likely result of regular Botox injections and laser resurfacing or micro needling to smooth out fine wrinkles and lines. She's also had Botox around her eyes — she has no crow's feet when she smiles," Dr. Goldenberg explains.

"Her cheeks have always been full, but they are likely augmented with filler, such as Juvederm or Restylane. Her eyes are more upturned in the current photo — a result that may be achieved with facial contouring with fillers, such as Radiesse or Bellafill. She's also rid of her gummy smile — something that can be achieved with Botox. Her lips remain nicely shaped and full — she's likely keeping up with Restylane or Juvederm injections there."

He then adds, "She's also likely getting regular chemical peels or laser treatment for her skin — it is better now than it was before. Her pores are smaller and there's no evidence of dyspigmentation."
